Quiz answers and why

Pass mark: 10 out of 12. Read these out together after the quiz.

1. Which three tells do almost all scams share?
   B. Rush, secrecy or a broken process, and an unusual payment or request
   Rush, secrecy and an unusual payment or request. Spot two, stop and verify.
2. A supplier emails new bank details for this month's invoice. What do you do first?
   C. Call the supplier on the number already in our files
   Always verify bank changes on contact details we already had. Email accounts can be hacked.
3. Someone from "IT" calls and asks you to read back a code that just arrived. You should:
   B. Hang up and report it through our usual route
   Nobody legitimate needs your one-time code. A request for it means someone is trying to sign in as you.
4. You get a burst of sign-in approval prompts you didn't start. What's the right move?
   C. Deny them all and report it
   Deny and report. It means someone has your password.
5. Your manager texts asking you to buy gift cards urgently and send the codes. You:
   C. Verify with your manager on a number you already have before doing anything
   Gift card requests are a classic scam. Verify through a known channel; replying goes to the scammer.
6. Which of these is the safest way to check a link in an email asking you to log in?
   B. Go to the site or app yourself, the way you normally would Use your usual bookmark or app. Look-alike pages can be perfect copies.

7. A voice call sounds exactly like a senior manager approving an urgent transfer. You should:
   C. Confirm by calling them back on a known number or in person
   Voices can be cloned. Verification through a known channel is what counts.
8. An email asks HR for all employees' W-2 forms "for a review today" from an executive's name. HR should:
   C. Confirm with the executive by phone or in person first
   W-2 requests are a common January scam. Confirm before sending any employee data.
9. You clicked a link and typed your password before realising it was fake. What now?
   B. Report it right away, then change that password
   Fast reporting limits damage. No blame for reporting.
10. A QR code on a poster in the break room says "scan to update your benefits login". You:
    B. Treat it like a link: use the usual benefits site or app instead, and report the poster
    QR codes are links. Sign in only through the usual route.
11. Who should approve a new payee or a change of bank details?
    B. A second person, after a phone check
    Phone verification plus a second person's approval stops most invoice fraud.
12. Why is reporting quickly, even when you're not sure, so important?
    B. Banks and IT can often limit or reverse damage in the first hours
    The first hours matter most for recalling payments and locking accounts.
